

Twitter and Facebook can keep you connected with your Life Group and the church. Woodland Hills uses Twitter to communicate prayer requests, upcoming events and event highlights and so can you.

Twitter is relatively new. Here is a little Twitter 101 for you and your life group.

What is Twitter?

Twitter is an online micro-blog. Users control their own posts (updates) and decide who to receive updates from.

What does Twitter do?

Twitter allows for information to be passed along in a very short amount of time. Updates can be sent from your computer or your cell phone. While Twitter won't allow you to go into much detail, it can provide the essential information to get your message across.

Do I have to tell everyone what I'm having for lunch?

Not if you don't want to. Twitter is completely user-driven. You decide what information you want to pass along.

How can Twitter help my Life Group communicate better?

Twitter can help your life group stay connected with each other. Alert your group of immediate prayer requests, tell them of a great shoe sale that no one knows about or share what the Lord has been teaching you.

What if I'm the only one who wants to join Twitter?

Join our online community. Signing up is easy. Twitter will search through your email contacts to see if any of them have signed up and will connect you two together. Get prayer updates from Woodland Hills Family Church and follow many of the staff members.

To register, go to www.twitter.com.
